There is a new entry-level red from the joint venture between Bruno Murciano and his brother José Luis, the 2015 L'Alegria, produced with grapes from old Bobal vines on clay soils. It's produced in an approachable style, polished and with moderate concentration and ripeness and a soft texture with polished and surprisingly elegant tannins for what you expect from the grape. A very pleasant introduction to Bobal. 11,280 bottles produced.
